ANNOTATION: This article describes the future of our country's young generation, raising them to be fully mature, humane, responsible individuals in front of society and nature, and increasing the activity of highly moral youth in the social and political spheres of our country.

Key words: New Uzbekistan, development, spirituality, culture, growth, youth, tasks, innovative thinking, loyalty to the national idea, spiritual and educational propaganda, propaganda mechanisms, state policy on youth, improvement of legal culture of youth, public education system.

It is the priority of the state policy to pay attention and care to the determined young people, who are our main support in achieving the great goal of building a new Uzbekistan in our country, and to create the necessary conditions and opportunities for them to fully demonstrate their talent and potential in all fields.

The head of our state Sh.M. As Mirziyoyev noted, "We should pay special attention to the active participation of young people in the democratic processes in the life of our country and increase their political and social potential." [1]

It is known from the historical development of any country that the rapid development of the country, the achievement of certain achievements, and the well-being of the people are closely related to the level of attention paid to the education and future of the youth in that country. In this sense, the issue of youth in Uzbekistan is one of the most priority areas of state policy.

Extensive work is being done in the field of youth policy in our country. During the past time, a special system has been created for comprehensive support of young people, protection of their rights and legal interests, education of enterprising, ambitious young people who are able to take responsibility for the future of our country.

Raising legal awareness and legal culture in society is one of the most important conditions for ensuring the rule of law and strengthening legitimacy.

In our country, a strong legal framework has been created to protect the rights and interests of young people, to create the necessary conditions and opportunities for them, and this system is being improved in line with the requirements of the times. In particular, more than 40 legal documents related to youth have been adopted by the parliament, and more than 30 international legal documents have been ratified.

Inadequate legal knowledge of the population, as well as the fact that state bodies hardly use the opportunity to appeal to the court against the illegal decisions, cause cases of discrimination of the rights and legal interests of citizens by officials.

In addition, in the current era of globalization, scientific and technical development, innovative methods of raising the legal consciousness and legal culture of the population, advanced and effective propaganda tools, and positive experiences of foreign countries in this regard are not being used sufficiently. In order to ensure the implementation of tasks related to the development of effective solutions to problems in the field of youth, as well as the implementation of tasks related to bringing the state policy regarding youth to a new level in our country, the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On approval of the concept of development of the state policy regarding youth in Uzbekistan until 2025" dated 18.01.2021 No. 23 decision [2] was adopted.

Globalization processes in the world, the need for an innovative society, science and technology development, along with creating many opportunities for young people, put many demands on them, such as making quick decisions, forming innovative thinking, and increasing intellectual potential. In general, Uzbekistan is using all its strength and capabilities to create modern, advanced and innovative conditions for young people to get an education, acquire a profession, and grow into mature people.

For example, the head of state Sh.M. Mirziyoev in his speech at the 72nd session of the United Nations General Assembly said that the future of our planet, the well-being of our children depends on how our children will grow into human beings, our main task is to create the necessary conditions for young people to show their potential, the virus of the idea of violence " is to prevent the spread. For this, it is believed that it is necessary to develop multilateral cooperation in the social support of the young generation, protection of its rights and interests, a generalized international legal document aimed at the formation and implementation of youth policy in today's conditions of rapid development of globalization and information and communication technologies in Uzbekistan - He proposed the development of the UN International Convention on the Rights of Youth.

Therefore, the more attention is paid to supporting the young generation in all aspects, raising them to be spiritually mature, physically healthy, patriotic and selfless, protecting their rights and interests, the more effective it will be. Therefore, Uzbekistan considers the youth group, which is recognized as an active layer of the society, not as a "problem", but as a great force that ensures the development of the country, a strategic resource of the state. As a result, today highly educated, modern-thinking, determined young people are increasingly becoming a decisive force in the future development of the country.

"The more perfect the education, the happier the people live," say the sages. In order for education to be perfect, it is absolutely impossible to allow a gap to appear in this matter".[3]

As long as we live in the 21st century, when the world is becoming increasingly globalized, rapidly changing and becoming more complex, we cannot ignore an extremely important reality of the present time. That is, countries with significant human capital and where young people play a large role in this investment have priority opportunities for consistent development, successful accumulation of innovation potential, and effective management of their achievements.

The world's youth face new concerns such as access to health care services, access to quality education, decent work and decent work, internal and external labor migration, food security and nutrition, social isolation and alienation from society. is coming In such a situation, it is extremely important to fully preserve legal mechanisms for the protection of youth rights.

Above all, youth is a powerful force that initiates radical reforms and is at the forefront of ambitious changes. They have the responsibility to fully demonstrate their potential and build a decent and pleasant life for today's and future generations.

However, from a social point of view, there is a saying that the modern generation needs the support of the state and society in all spheres of life. Especially today, many problems are waiting for a practical solution in the fields of allocating certain funds for the development of youth, building a modern infrastructure for the effective implementation of the state's youth policy, and ensuring human rights.

Therefore, it is the priority of the state policy to pay attention and care to the determined young people, who are our main support in achieving the great goal of building a New Uzbekistan in our country, and to create the necessary conditions and opportunities for them to fully demonstrate their talent and potential in all fields.

As the President noted: "We need to develop a national idea that will be a source of strength for us in the implementation of the great tasks we have set before us. In particular, we need to understand our national identity, study the ancient and rich history of our homeland, strengthen scientific and research work in this regard, and support the work of scientists in the field of humanitarianism in every way. [4]

Central Asia is the youngest region in the world, with an average age of 27.6 years. About 50 percent of the population of the region belongs to the Republic of Uzbekistan. 18.9 million of the population of our country. or 54 percent are young people and children under 30 years of age. 9.5 million of young people are male and 9.4 million are female.

The implementation of strategic tasks aimed at increasing the effectiveness of youth policy in our country for the near and long term will significantly affect the maintenance of stability, peace and well-being in Uzbekistan. More than 830 non-governmental non-profit organizations and public associations that protect the interests of young people are operating in the republic.

For the first time in the history of our country, the Youth Forum of Uzbekistan was held on December 25, 2020 with the participation of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan. At the forum attended by more than 30,000 young people, the Head of State communicated with young people and supported their ideas, proposals and initiatives.

In 2021 alone, about 6 million enthusiastic, aspiring young people across the Republic will join the "Youth of New Uzbekistan, let's unite!" festivals were held under the slogan. In particular, the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Sh. On June 30, Mirziyoyev participated in the forum of youth and students of Uzbekistan.

In particular, the Tashkent Youth Declaration was adopted at the end of the World Conference on Youth Rights held in Tashkent on August 12-13, 2021 under the theme "Involvement of Youth in Global Actions".

In order to implement the new initiatives and ideas put forward at the Forum of Youth and Students of Uzbekistan during the State Program for the implementation of the "Year of Youth Support and Public Health Promotion" and to ensure the implementation of the tasks set in the State Program, the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan "All-round Support for Youth" and on additional measures to further increase their social activity" dated 13.07.2021 No. PF-6260, the program of the Government on the eve of the Youth Day of the Republic of Uzbekistan, as well as the Republic of Karakalpakstan Separate territorial programs of the Council of Ministers, regions and Tashkent city, district and city hokims will be adopted and these programs will consist of complex measures aimed at the acquisition of knowledge and skills by young people, creation of decent working and living conditions for them, meaningful organization of free time.

Therefore, the process of social development depends more on young people and their level of spiritual, intellectual potential, political and legal knowledge. With a proper understanding of these factors, at the current stage of our country's development, the adoption of the "Concept of the Development of State Policy on Youth in Uzbekistan until 2025" by the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan on 18.01.2021 is to form the spirit of love and loyalty to the Motherland in our youth from childhood.

In conclusion, it should be mentioned that the future of our country is in the hands of the next generation, and it is one of our most important goals to educate them as mature, humane, responsible individuals in front of society and nature. At the core of the huge reforms implemented in our country today is the vital idea "From national revival to national rise". National growth is not only in the spiritual sphere, but also includes the development of all spheres of our life, such as a democratic society and a legal state, a prosperous and peaceful life, and economic stability.

The implementation of joint programs in the fields of education and science, culture and sports is gaining priority, involving the youth, who make up the majority of the population of our countries.

We all know well that young people are our priceless wealth. The fate and future of our country and people directly depends on the education and upbringing of the young generation, the conditions and "social elevators" we create for them.

In general, in the politics of today's boom period, consistent economic reforms in our country are considered as a component of social development. This implies the further improvement of the mechanisms of education of young people who are intellectually mature and have creative potential and have modern knowledge and skills, who can take responsibility for the worthy future of our country.

All the conditions created in our country for young people to realize their potential and aspirations will serve to educate them in the future, to form them as competitive personnel, to contribute to the development of the country and the peace of the Motherland through their innovative ideas and initiatives.
